No Deficiency Payment Needed For 1974-Crop

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz recently announced that it will not be necessary to make deficiency payments for 1974-crop corn and sorghum. As provided by the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, deficiency payments shall be made to producers when the national weighted average price received by farmers for the first five months of the marketing year - October-February for corn and sorghum - is less than the established "target" prices for these crops.

The national weighted average price received by producers for the first five months of the 1974 marketing year was $3.22 per bushel for corn and $3.03 per bushel ($5.41 per hundredweight) for sorghum. Since this is in excess of the target prices of $1.38 for corn and $1.31 for sorghum, there will be no deficiency payments.

College Graduates Will Find Jobs Scarce

RICHMOND- The current economic situation and resulting increased unemployment will make it difficult for many of Virginia's 1975 college graduates to find jobs, according to Ron Montgomery, placement representative for the Virginia Employment Commission.

In an attempt to help as many young Virginians as possible, the VEC will again conduct its College Profiles program, Montgomery said.

"We can't promise to get these young people jobs," Montgomery said, "but we can get their names before prospective Virginia employers."

Under College Profiles, the VEC publishes a list of recent college graduates seeking work and distributes copies to many Virginia employers. This year, about 70,000 employers will be informed by direct mail of the availability of the listing.

To be issued in April, May and June, the list will carry the student's name, home address, college attended and major and minor courses of study. Employers who are interested in a particular student either contact him directly or arrange an interview through a local VEC office.

Seniors or recent graduates who want to be included on the list should see their college placement officer or visit their local Virginia Employment Commission office. Forms available at either of these places must be completed and signed by the individual.

No charge is made to employer or job applicant for any VEC service.

Besides drawer dividers, other neatness-oriented kitchen aids include cabinet dispensers, paper bag and pot cover holders and stackable bins for closets, refrigerator or under-the-sink use.

Stacking cubes, some with drawers or sliding doors can be used as end tables, small chests or to provide extra seating.

Look for specialized racks and holders for equipment such as skis and other sports equipment. It's much easier to scrub or vacuum floors with things up and out of the way!

Small items have a tendency to wind up in catch-alls scattered throughout the house. Remedy this with small drawer units. They are also useful for keeping paper clips, rubber bands, stamps and other office supplies neatly available.

Most bathrooms are storage-shy. Find extra space by using wall-hung shelves, spring poles and tank-top units. Shower caddies, towel ladders that clip on the door and a variety of racks, hooks, and rings keep the bathroom clutter-free.

Look in kitchen, bathroom, and notions departments as well as hardware stores, lumber yards and specialty shops for storage and do-it-yourself aids. Space savers are often time savers as well and that is an added plus for any busy household.
